The Poles still hold Warsaw.

Those five words tell one of the epics of war-history. At the end of six days of bitter fighting beneath a deluge of shattering steel,
the Poles still hold their capital
although it is largely encircled
by a ring of German bayonets.

One often refers to a man of unlimited courage in combat as a
"fighting fool." It is a complimentary term.

The Poles are "fighting fools,"
and always have been. The sturdy women-folk have in many places
been helping out their men in battle. And even the small hands of children have been building
barricades and digging trenches
for fathers and brothers.

This defense of Warsaw represents a section of the big stand which the Poles finally are making through the heart of Poland,
at the end of their planned retreat from the German border.

They are fighting against time—
hanging on to give their Anglo-French allies a chance to take action which will relieve the awful pressure of that vast German war-machine.

A bit more and Poland may get help from nature. Come the fall rains and many of the roads will become bogs. Now the country highways are reported deep in dust, churned up by the endless line of traffic. Add water to that mess and you get a mixture of the consistency of glue—extremely difficult for traffic of any kind.

This necessarily will slow the German advance and give the Poles a breathing space. I know
the water-logged roads of eastern Europe in the fall, and they are terrible.

Only a miracle can save Warsaw from capture, of course, but every day of delay is good for Poland.

The desperate battle continues
just north of Lodz, 60 miles west of Warsaw, where the Germans have surrounded fifty or sixty thousand Poles. It looks like surrender or death for the defenders.

Says British Free
to Act if Nazis
Bomb Civilians

London, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax
warned Germany in effect today
that, if she resorted to civilian bombings, the British government
"must hold themselves completely
free to take such action as they may deem appropriate."

Halifax's declaration was made in the House of Lords when he took cognizance of an announcement directed at Poland today by the German supreme army command.

(This announcement said that as Poles turned open towns, markets or villages into a battle area
(by sniping) "the German army
from now on will break resistance
in such places with all means at its disposal.")

The foreign secretary said that if that announcement meant indiscriminate bombing of open Polish cities "it would seem to be in direct contradiction" of Adolf Hitler's reichstag speech of September 1 "when he disclaimed any desire to make war on women and children."

The foreign secretary also referred to British-French assent to President Roosevelt's plea to abstain from civilian bombing and said:

"The restrictions that his majesty's government have imposed upon their own forces (concerning bombing) were based on a condition of similar restraint being observed by their opponents and his majesty's government must hold themselves completely free,
if such restraint is not in fact observed, to take such action as
they may deem appropriate."

Pennsylvania Railroad
Announces Expansions

Philadelphia, Sept. 13.—(AP)—
A $17,000,000 program of equipment and property improvement
was announced today by the Pennsylvania railroad.

President M. W. Clement said
it called for 2,500 new freight cars, 20 new electric locomotives,
three new streamlined passenger cars, 15 modernized passenger cars
and 50,000 tons of rail.

The rails will include 50,000 tons
of new rails and 30,000 tons now being rolled.

The program also calls for repairs of 17,500 hopper gondolas
and box cars during September and October.

Repel Terrific Attacks on Warsaw and Lwow Radio Reports

BULLETIN
Budapest, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A dispatch from Cernauti, Rumania,
at the Polish frontier, said tonight that Eugene Kwiatkowski, Polish finance minister, and 10
other Polish officials had arrived
there.

The Rumanian ambassador to Warsaw and his staff also entered Rumania at Cernauti.

The dispatch said that during the day 14 planes flew out of Poland and landed at Bernauti,
bringing 48 passengers, mostly members of the families of Polish commercial airlines pilots.

BULLETIN
Warsaw, Sept. 13.—(Polish Telegraph Agency, via Stockholm)—
The army and the civilian population of Warsaw are repelling
with an incomparable heroism the concentric attacks of overwhelming enemy forces. Anti air craft artillery dispersed German bombers who attacked the city yesterday 14 times.

A German tank which succeeded in penetrating one of Warsaw's suburbs was captured and dis-
armed by the civilian defenders,
mostly women and children.

The Warsaw radio station is working as usual. The radio listeners were greatly amused by the announcement broadcasted by the German radio stating "because of strategic reasons the German armies were compelled to retreat
from Warsaw."

BULLETIN
Lwow, Poland, Sept. 13.—(Polish Telegraphic Agency, via Stockholm)—Today's Polish general
staff communique follows:

Enemy airplanes continued to bombard our army, communication
lines, cities and civilian population
on the roads.

No change on the Suwalki front.
Our troops along the Narew and Bug rivers are in the midst of heavy fighting. The enemy is using a large number of bombing air planes.

On the Modlin front no changes.
On the Warsaw front the population of the capital is repelling
German attacks with a great spirit of sacrifice and heroism.

In the Kutno region our divisions
are marching eastward in heavy fights with the enemy. On the San river front the fighting continues.

Germany reported new thrusts
into Poland today as Prime Minister Chamberlain pledged war
"until the menace of Hitlerism has been finally removed."

Britain and France agree on this, Chamberlain told Parliament.
A German communique said an "enormous number" of Poles had been captured in wiping out Polish resistance south of Radom,
part of the sweeping German offensive to encircle Warsaw.

Germans said they believed the Polish capital's outlying defenses
were crumbling.

Chamberlain's statement in the House of Commons, reviewing military operations, said British troops in France had not gone into action yet.

But French military dispatches
reported that a "great number of

Over 1,800 Americans Scheduled
to Arrive Today from War Zones

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—
The vanguard of more than 1,800
Americans scheduled to arrive today from troubled Europe came in on the British liner Cameronia
after a rough, zig-zag crossing to avoid submarines.

Sixty per cent of the ship's 786
passengers were seaskick the first three days out, when a constant zig-zag, contrary to the customary "running with the seas"
course, added to the roughness of the voyage.

Three destroyers convoyed the Cameronia and a cluster of eight other ships for the first three hours out of England. After that,
she went alone, her crew working en route to coast her white superstructure with battleship
gray.

Shipping operations of both belligerents and neutral nations proceeded under increasing difficulties. The only official word on some vessels in the submarine
zone was "somewhere at sea."

VOTED BY BOARD

Supervisors Appropriate
Funds for Nachusa, El-
dena, Nelson Roads

An appropriation totalling $96-$100.00, of which $88.100 is from the county's share of the motor fuel tax fund and $3,300 from the general fund, was unanimously voted for road improvement in Lee county next year at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the board of supervisors. Three outstanding improvements were included in the list: The black-topping of the present roadway leading south from U. S. route 330 to the NorthWestern tracks in the village of Nachusa at a cost of $6,000; the construction of a concrete-gravel spur from state route 26 west to the village of Eldena
at a cost of $60,000; and the expenditure of the sum of $27,500
to complete the Nelson spur from the village to the Lee-Whiteside county line. All of these improvements are proposed under the gas tax fund.

An appropriation of $1,800 from the county general fund was voted to maintain the county's share of expense on state aid roads north

Up To Boards

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—
(AP)—Attorney General John E. Cassidy ruled today that county boards and not the sheriffs should make the necessary arrangements required in court houses by women
serving on juries.

The ruling was made in an opinion written for State Attorney Everett Smith of Lincoln, who asked whether the sheriff or the county board should direct agencies
to vacate quarters in the court house and do any remodeling.

Cassidy said it was the duty
of the county board to order
the removal of offices of such agencies as the WPA, old age assistance, and Illinois Emergency Relief and to direct any building remodeling required
to provide quarters for women
jurors.

Expect Former Barbara
Hutton to Leave Europe

Paris, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth
heiress, left Paris today by automobile.

She was believed to be en route
to neutral Belgium to escape France's war dangers. It was understood she planned to sail for the United States in October.

The countess, who gave up her United States citizenship and became a Danish subject before her separation from the Danish count
who was her second husband, arrived unexpectedly in Paris from Italy, where she had been spending the summer season.

She spent several hours at the American embassy here before driving northeast toward the Belgian border.

Report Bremen Heads
For Italian Harbor

London, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The British information ministry today
issued a notice permitting publication here of a report appearing in a Rotterdam newspaper that the German liner Bremen had acquired status as an Italian vessel and was heading for an Italian port.

(The Associated Press has had no confirmation of this report.
Last week German officials said
the big liner, which sailed from New York August 30, four days before Britain declared war, had reached the safety of an unidentified neutral port.

Edward and Homer Seavey,
brothers, will take off near Prophetstown at 10 o'clock Friday

PARKED ON LAWN

The automobile owned by Chairman J. E. Mau of the board

lawn of the court house square
for a time yesterday. The car had been parked on the east side of the court house square and
another motorist in driving away,
hooked the front bumper of the street and when the bumpers

parted, the chairman's machine
coasted back across the curb and sidewalk into the court house
property. Chairman Mau's car was not damaged.

Duke of Windsor
to Assume Post
With War Forces

London, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor, who kept his promise to return to England if he ever needed him, will take up
a war appointment, it was announced today.

The former king is a field marshal on the active list and colonel-
in-chief of the Welch Guards.

On the first day after his return
from an exile that was broken by war, the duke gave quick evidence he would not seek seclusion. With his American-born duchess he posed for photographers at a friend's Sussex estate where they are guests.

Windsor avoided questions about what kind of war jobs he would take, but the smiles of the duke and duchess made it obvious they were glad to be back after spending almost three years on the continent, largely in France.

They received photographers at the Ashdown forest estate of Major Edward Dudley Metcalfe, the duke's former aide.

The duchess wore a high-necked light-blue wool dress and a black-and-white check tweed coat. The duke wore a striped flannel lounge
suit with a bright-colored tie.

Injuries Prove
Fatal to Frank
Shippert Today

Frank Shippert of this city, lineman for the Illinois Northern Utilities Co., died at a Marinette, Wis., hospital at 9:05 o'clock this morning as a result of injuries he sustained in an automobile accident about 50 miles northwest of that city at about 8 o'clock Sunday evening. In the crash Ship-pert's left arm was so badly mangled that surgeons were forced to amputate it Monday morning, and the shock and loss of blood proved fatal.

The body of the unfortunate
young man will be brought to Dixon tomorrow, at which time
funeral arrangements will be made and announced, together
with the deceased's obituary.

Shippert was fatally injured
when a car belonging to George Aschenbrenner, Jr., which Ship-pert was driving, was struck by a heavy truck on a curve and almost demolished. Others in the party, which was returning to Dixon from Crystal Falls, Wis., were Aschenbrenner, Ed Powers, Eugene Brooks and Bert Rumery,
the latter being so seriously hurt
that he is still confined to the hospital in Marinette.

Curtilment of
Navy Open House
Indicated Today

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP)—
Curtilment of the navy's traditional "open house" on October 27
was indicated today because of the department's neutrality enforcement and anti-espionage activities.

Beginning in 1922, Navy Day has been observed on the birthday anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt.

Traditionally the nation's sea-
going force plays host to the public.

This year, however, navy yards
and industrial plants engaged in navy work will not be thrown open. Similarly, the practice observed in recent years of assigning ships to various ports to act as hosts will not be followed.

Visiting aboard ships will as usual be left to the discretion of the commanding officers, but this part of the program is also expected to be curtailed greatly.

Officials said, however, that these policies would not interfere with the carrying out of other observances not in conflict with precautionary measures.

Mrs. Florence Rogers
Dies at Hospital Here

Mrs. Florence Rogers passed away at the Katherine Shaw Betha
hospital Tuesday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock after a short illness. She had been admitted to the hospital Monday. Funeral services will be held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Nelson, 319 Douglas avenue, at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon and at Bethel Evangelical church at 2:30. The Rev. Paul Gordon will officiate and burial will be at Oakwood.

Mrs. Margaret Kennedy
Dies at Sister's Home

Mrs. Margaret Kennedy, 56, who came to Dixon from Cedar Rapids, Ia., about a month ago to make her home with her only relative,
a sister, Miss Emma Quinn, 610
First street, passed away at that address at 2:30 o'clock this morning after a lingering illness. Funeral services will be held at the Jones funeral home at 9 o'clock
Friday morning and at St. Patrick's Catholic church at 9:30.
Burial will be in Oakwood. Mrs.
Kennedy was born in Amboy on March 4, 1883.

H. N. Jensen, 76,
Passes Away at
His Home Today

N. H. Jensen, for 35 years well known, popular and successful
Dixon painter and decorating contractor, passed away at his home, 714 Hennepin avenue, at 4:30 this morning after an extended illness. Funeral services will be held at the Masonic temple at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon,
the Rev. Herbert J. Doran of the First Presbyterian church officiating. The Masonic orders will have charge of the services
at the grave in Oakwood cemetery.

Mr. Jensen, whose constant good humor and steadfast honesty in his work and business
made him friends in all walks of life, was born in Denmark May 28, 1863. He came to the United States 45 years ago and attained success at his trade. He is survived by his widow, Polina; three daughters, Mrs. Malcolm Erb of Moore and Jean Erb.

Mr. Jensen was a member of all of the Masonic branches from the blue lodge to the 32nd degree
and was a Past Master, Past Commander, and Past High Priest of the various orders. He also was affiliated with the B. P. O.

Relief from Record September
Heat Wave Will Be Sluggish

Chicago, Sept. 13.—(AP)—For the second successive day, late summer heat enveloped most of the area between the Rocky mountains and the southern Ap-palachians today and no great relief was in sight.

Temperatures that rose into the 90's and 100's yesterday slipped to about normal during the night
but mounted again today.

In Chicago the mercury reached 83 at 9 a. m. (C. S. T.), 10 de-

Asks Leaders to Confer With Him One Day Before

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP)—
President Roosevelt today called Congress to meet in special session
at noon September 21.

Although his proclamation made
no mention of the neutrality act,
the President already had stated informally he would seek repeal of the arms embargo clause and try to confine the session to that action.

At the same time he signed the proclamation convening Congress,
he sent telegrams to a group of Democratic and Republican leaders in both Senate and House,
asking them to meet him the afternoon of September 20 for an informal conference at the White House.

The telegrams inviting leaders
to the conference the day before the session starts, went to Vice President Garner at Uvalde, Tex.; House Speaker Bankhead at Jasper, Ala.; Senator Barkley, Democratic leader, at Paducah, Ky.; Senator McNary, Republican
leader, at Salem, Ore.; Senator Minton, assistant Democratic leader, at New Albany, Ind.; Senator Austin, assistant Republican leader, at Burlington, Vt.; Senator Pittman, the Democratic chairman of the foreign relations committee, at Tonopah, Nev.; Senator
Byrnes (D-S.C.) at Spartanburg,
S. C.; Representative Rayburn, House Democratic leader at Bonham, Tex.; and Representative
Martin, House Republican leader,
at North Attleboro, Mass.

The President advised these leaders that after a careful study of the whole situation he had decided to call a special session.

He expressed hope that each of them could arrive in Washington
a day early for the informal meeting with him.

No Filibuster Effort

While the Chief Executive is anxious to limit not only the legislative scope of the session to neutrality revision but also would like the session to end as quickly as possible, many Senators, including Borah (R-Idaho) Vandenberg, (R-Mich.), and Nye (R-N.D.),
have declared they would insist on full debate, although without any effort to filibuster.

Roosevelt appeared assured of majority support within the Senate foreign relations committee
for some form of his proposal to permit the sale of arms to belligerent nations.

In a letter to an unnamed
constituent, Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind.) announced he would support a "cash and carry" plan for arms sales, if it were safeguarded properly.

Van Nuys was one of the committee members who, by a vote of 12 to 11 at the last session of congress, delayed consideration of

216 OF ATHENIA'S SURVIVORS LAND IN CANADA PORT

Freighter City of Flint Arrives to Wild Welcome in Halifax

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 13.—(AP)—With Canadian war planes zooming above her in welcome salute, the United States freighter City of Flint, carrying 216 survivors of the sunken British liner Athenia, steamed into Halifax harbor today.

The bridge of the small vessel, where the navigation officer usually stands alone, was jammed with men and women. Two cutters preceded the American ship into the harbor, carrying six injured survivors. They exchanged salutes with British warships anchored nearby.

A series of hoarhs rose both from the relatives and friends crowding the dock and from those jamming the rails of the freighter as the City of Flint nosed into the dock. Some of the women were dressed in dungarees. A child's cry could be heard by those on shore.

"This looks beautiful to me," shouted one girl aboard the City of Flint as she saw the size of the welcoming group.

Indication of Courage

The first of those who stepped ashore brought word of the fear of a second submarine attack that had gripped the survivors during their long voyage across the North Atlantic. But there were indications of high courage, also.

Crew members gave up their heavy clothing to keep women and children warm, and one survivor reported that many of the women went to work in the ship's galley, while others made dresses out of such material as they could find.

With these make-shift clothes, and the slim wardrobes that some were able to save from the sinking Athenia, a group of young girls put on a style show in order to calm the more hysterical among the freighter's passengers.

In order to speed debarkation of the survivors, the Canadian government held up the customary quarantine inspection until the ship was in the harbor.

SURVIVOR'S STORY

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The first survivor of the sunken liner Athenia to reach New York described today harrowing scenes aboard, with women screaming, children crying and the ship listing in darkness.

"There was a muffled explosion like a cannon cracker going off in a 50-gallon drum," said Damon Boynton, 31, of Ithaca, N. Y.

Boynton, an assistant professor of pomology (fruit culture) at Cornell University, arrived on the British liner Cameronia wearing the same clothes he wore when the Athenia went down off the Hebrides a week ago Sunday.

"There were lots and lots of little children, and there were many more women than men on the ship," Boynton said. "I was in my cabin just after dinner."

"After the explosion the engines stopped, the boat stopped, the lights went out, and the ship listed 10 or 12 degrees to port. My cabin was on 'D' deck, below the water line."

"I put on my shoes and then my life preserver, and I helped another fellow in my cabin—I don't know his name—put his life belt on."

"We were both a bit nervous. It was perfectly obvious what had happened."

"Children began to whimper and cry and the mothers were calling and screaming to them, and there was a kind of pandemonium, but I don't mean a stampede. I went up two flights of stairs to my boat station. It was almost impossible to help anyone else, there was such a jam. I did help a woman with her life preserver and I did what I could to calm the children. Of course, only important work was done by the crew."

Boynton said he believed the ship was torpedoed. He saw no submarine, but he said two other survivors told him they saw a periscope near the Athenia shortly before the explosion.

FLEE ST. CHARLES SCHOOL

St. Charles, Ill., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Guards of the St. Charles school for boys searched today for three inmates who ran away from the unswayed institution yesterday.

The boys who fled through fields from a receiving cottage where they were quartered were George Frazer, 18, of Chester, and Lee Pol, 15, a Negro, and Raymond Cramer, 17, of Chicago.

There have been 62 escapes from the school since January 1.

ASKS SUPPORT OF F. D. R.

Indianapolis, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A proclamation of Indiana's Democratic governor, M. Clifford Townsend, asked the people of the state today to "stand solidly behind the president of the United States in his determination to keep America out of war."

The governor called for strict observance of the neutrality law. He said the war-or-peace issue "transcends all partisan consideration."

No time at all elapses on our earth between Feb. 1 and Feb. 3. Since a day on earth lasts more than 48 hours, Feb. 1 is just ending at one point of the globe as Feb. 3 is commencing at another.

Pershing's 79th Birthday Finds Him in Hospital

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP)—General John J. Pershing urged today, on his 79th birthday anniversary, that congress provide funds at its coming special session "to carry the military establishment to its full peace strength."

Full strength would be 280,000 men in the regular army and 424,000 in the National Guard. Since the war broke out in Europe, President Roosevelt has already ordered expansion of the army to 227,000 and the guard to 235,000.

The A. E. F. commander-in-chief said in a statement to the press: "I must again recall our deplorable situation when we entered the World War 22 years ago. Then not a single move had been made, from a military point of view, to prepare for it. That experience, with its costly lesson, I am happy to say, appears certain to be avoided in the event that we should again become involved in war."

The general issued his statement from Walter Reed hospital, where he is undergoing a periodic physical checkup and watching Europe's new war from his bed and easy chair.

"It is not a very good time to be celebrating birthdays when everybody is disturbed about the unfortunate situation of the world today," he said.

"The recent action of President Roosevelt in authorizing an immediate increase in the strength of the army and navy has my hearty support. x x x I sincerely hope that if a special session of congress is called the war department will be at once authorized, and provided with the necessary funds, to carry the military establishment to its full peace strength x x x."

Shoe Demonstrator to Visit Dixon This Week

Homer Erzinger announced today that H. M. Moore, special representative of the International Shoe Company of St. Louis, America's largest shoemakers, will be at his store tomorrow, Friday and Saturday to give a personal demonstration of the "Conformal" shoe. The Conformal shoe is claimed to be an innovation in footwear in that it makes possible an individualized moulded fitting for the walking surface of every individual foot. By means of a plastic insole, the foot itself moulds its own walking base to elevate, support and balance the arch structure in its natural position. This moulding process takes less than ten minutes and can be repeated whenever desired.

TIME TO SPEAK UP

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—L. J. Taber, Master of the National Grange, said today "it is time to let the world know that we in America do not intend to be embroiled in the turmoil across the sea."

"We do not propose to sacrifice the youth of our land on the altar of imperial ambitions of Europe," he told the National Association of Motor Bus Operators.

Baby Ambulance Wins Praise of Noted Physician

Cleveland, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A new "baby ambulance" designed to save the lives of premature babies which weigh little more than a pound at birth was demonstrated today before the American Congress of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

It is a small steel box in which such tiny infants can be placed, its cover closed and oxygen administered. The interior heat is kept at the proper temperature until the infant can be transported to an incubator in the hospital.

The designers, Miss Evelyn Lundeen and Miss Helen Bachle, of Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, and Dr. Herman Eundesen, director of the Chicago Board of Health, declared that two such ambulances now in use had saved the lives of several hundred premature babies born in Chicago homes in the past year.

Dr. Allan Roy Dufoe of Callander, Ont., personal physician to the Dionne quintuplets and congress speaker, was enthusiastic about the device.

In his address, Dr. Dufoe told the congress the lives of thousands of babies could be saved by using the same simple methods that kept the Dionne quintuplets alive.

He said babies born prematurely, as the quints were, should be put immediately under blankets or kept warm in any crude incubator, fed only with breast milk, protected from infection, and handled as little as possible.

"The eternal vigilance of well-trained nurses overshadows almost every other essential in the care of the premature infant," he added.

WARNINGS ISSUED

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Although further price increases were noted, wholesalers said there appeared to be today some slackening of the rush by merchants and industries to increase inventories at higher prices.

Meanwhile a number of trade associations and economists warned trade and industry against "speculative excesses" in increasing inventories at the present time.

Uncle Sam's Women Pilots Await Calls

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The courage and skill of the women pilots of the United States will be at the nation's disposal "whenever and if ever their country calls them to duty," Mrs. Jessie R. Chamberlin, president of the New York branch of the Women's International Association of Aeronautics, said Tuesday.

"Even if, like other women, their hearts are set on peace," she added.

The United States has approximately 500 women with pilots' licenses in various classifications. Seventy-five women in the country hold transport pilots' licenses.

England and France already have called their women licensed pilots to service, Mrs. Chamberlin said, and at least two members of the Women's International Association of Aeronautics in Germany, one recently commissioned a captain in the German army, are taking part in the war.

Steel Industry Dizzy Under New Rush of Orders

Gary, Ind., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Belching flames from steel mill stacks brightened business skies in the Calumet district today as thousands of workers donned overalls for the first time in many months and returned to their jobs.

Steel company officials estimated that 10,000 workers would be called back if orders continue to pour in as they have since hostilities in Europe started.

The magazine, Iron Age, reported that since the war began steel orders have been "assuming almost fantastic proportions."

By the end of the week, estimates are that 62,000 persons, including those already on the job and many returned, will be working in steel mills in this industrial area, one of the nation's biggest workshops.

Another 18,000 workers are employed in allied industries, making the total 80,000, the largest number since the post-depression peak of 82,000 in October, 1937.

Postmen and telegraph messengers delivered back-to-work orders to hundreds of mill employees in Gary, Indiana Harbor and South Chicago yesterday.

Gary steel mills, subsidiaries of United States Steel Corporation, now employ about 26,000 and the rate of production is estimated at 67 per cent of capacity. Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, largest producer of the industry, blew in one idle furnace at its Gary works yesterday. Seven out of 12 are now operating.

Carnegie officials said 1,200 workers had been recalled at its South Chicago plant, where an another idle furnace started up yesterday.

Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company, with plants in East Chicago and Indiana Harbor, announced operations had been stepped up and that hundreds of employees were being called back to work. The two companies now have about 15,000 on their payrolls. Sheet and tin mill production in the area has increased 10 per cent in the past week.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowl movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

1940 DODGE 4-DOOR LUXURY LINER

Smart and graceful in appearance, roomy and comfortable in its interior, equipped with everything that promotes riding ease and designed to uphold the Dodge economy traditions, this newest 119 1/2-in. wheelbase 4-door Dodge DeLuxe Sedan is certain to appeal to motorists. The most outstanding feature of the newest Dodge is described as the "full-floating ride"—a novel performance element due to new achievements in scientific weight distribution.

While the announcement of the 1940 Dodge passenger car models features a multitude of style, comfort and operating innovations, the most outstanding achievement in the new series of Dodge Luxury Liners is described as a new and revolutionary performance element called "full-floating ride."

The basic principle underlying the "full-floating ride" of the 1940 Dodge is said to consist in a newly perfected system of weight distribution by which the company's engineers have created a scientifically suspended "zone of comfort" the practical advantages of which are further realized through an unusual body layout.

New, Different, Attractive

An outward examination of the 1940 Dodge shows the car as a fresh, original style creation of a newness so thorough that not a single 1939 body die is said to have been retained for 1940 production. Every line of the new car, from the air-cleaving V-slant radiator grille, past the streamlined hood, the reclined windshield, arched roof, intricately molded fender contours on to the unbroken roundness of rear quarters and back—spells newness, difference and attraction.

Notable among the many advances distinguishing the newest Dodge are a longer wheelbase of 119 1/2 inches; a lower, stiffer chassis frame with large front cross member; improved individual action front springing combined with four airplane-type double-acting shock-absorbers; improved steering layout including larger, stronger tie rods; improved gear-shifting mechanism; rubber-insulated steering gear mounting and direct steering with individual tie rod to each wheel; a further improved all-steel safety body construction presenting many new features—and interior appointments making for still greater comfort and riding and driving ease. Worthy of special mention is the fact that the lengthening of the wheelbase from 117 to 119 1/2 inches is accomplished without increase in the over-all, bumper-to-bumper length of the new cars.

Improved Car Doors

A body improvement sure of unstinted approval is presented by the rear doors of sedan models;

these are full-width and straight sided instead of being cut out and around the wheel housing. The new-style doors, in addition to giving easy entry and exit, permit the lowering of rear door windows down to the sills, thus providing maximum ventilation. Because the new chassis frame brings the body of the 1940 Dodge closer to the ground, the purchaser is now given the choice of having his car with or without running boards. When running boards are specified, they are not attached to the fenders, openings being provided so that dirt, snow or ice do not collect at the ends.

In the driving compartment, improved sun visors have a 2-inch edgewise adjustment giving a greater range of shading. Quarter windows are larger. Rear windows are a single piece of special heat-tempered glass, curved to conform to the contour of the back panels. Foot rests in sedan models are undercut for more toe room. Though the floors are lower, head space remains undiminished and the drive shaft tunnel is even lower than formerly due to the new transmission with side-mounted controls.

No Foreign Inquiries Received About Mules

East St. Louis, Ill., Sept. 13.—(AP)—The mule, which helped drag the allied armies through the World War, apparently will not play an important part in the present European conflict, which is being conducted on a more mechanized scale.

No foreign orders or inquiries have been received at the mule market in the National Stockyards, dealers said.

Receipts have fallen off from about 400 a day to 100, with breeders evidently holding their mules in the hope of higher prices. Sound animals now are quoted at about $175.

State Denies Allegations

While the defense contends that the defendants were entitled to trial within four months after demand was made and further contended that they made such demand May 12, 1939, this is refuted by the state, it being the contention of State's Attorney Robert J. Ellis of Stephenson county that such are not the facts. He declined to admit that the demand was made May 12 and adds that even though it were made the state was ready for trial yesterday, Sept. 11, which would have been within the four months limit. It is understood the defense claims that not only should the defendants have been brought to trial but that such trial should have been completed within the four month period, this also being denied by the state.

There were only 1,612 deaths from influenza in Texas in 1938 compared with 3,675 in 1937.

At the present time, Mrs. Long stated, where are 13 active 4-H clubs in the county with a membership of 137 girls. Several projects have been awarded honors in state-wide competition.

SENSE OF BALANCE AND HUMOR AS PROPAGANDA DEFENSE

The United States is in for a stronger dose of propaganda from Europe than it swallowed in 1914-1918. This is nothing at all to become indignant about. It is perfectly natural for each side in a war to try to persuade everybody that it is in the right. We would do the same in fact, we have.

The right to propagandize is so tightly woven in with freedom of the spoken and the written word that it is difficult to try to protect people from exposure to propaganda. The people can, however, learn to estimate it, to discount it, to weigh it.

All the tricks of World War propaganda are already being repeated. Polish radio stations are already telling their hearers that German airplanes are dropping gay balloons filled with mustard gas designed to kill innocent Polish children, and also strewn with poisoned candy for the children to pick up. Because these are old stories told during the World War and proved untrue, it seems very unlikely that there is any truth in them this time.

Similarly, Germans escort an American correspondent through a ruined village, show him the bodies of mutilated peasants. Germans, the Germans tell him, killed by the Poles. The correspondent reports what he saw, what the Germans told him. That was his job.

But as to whether the Germans told him was true, he expressed no opinion, nor do we need to form one on such slender evidence. What we do know is that these pitiful murdered people were victims of war—and that is about all.

The American newspaper correspondents in Europe are an unusually well-trained, responsible group, anxious to get the truth and tell it to you without distortion. That is their reputation among those who know journalism. Foreign visitors to the United States have observed that the American public is better informed on foreign events than the public of any other country.

But even these crack correspondents can only report to you what they are able to learn, and what the countries involved will allow them to transmit. Sometimes, what with censorship and a thousand restrictions, that isn't much.

For instance, when the German government in Berlin announces that it has taken Warsaw, the correspondent usually sends a dispatch stating that it has made such an announcement. Whether or not it is true must remain for time and cross-checking to discover.

Time works for truth. Of all reports from Europe, nothing is lost by waiting. If they are true, they will stand up with time. If not, time will eventually knock them down.

Take it easy, read with discretion, weigh each dispatch against the source and the probable interest of that source, balance report against report, and arrive at your own version of the truth. It will probably be as accurate as any other.

A DIFFERENT AMERICA TODAY WATCHES EUROPE

As the beginnings of European war unroll themselves like some unrealistic slow-motion newsreel, it is becoming clear that the America which watches is a different America from the one that watched Europe burst into flames in 1914.

Then we were shocked, fascinated, horror-stricken. We were like children, for except for the brief Spanish episode, war was nothing to the average American but a faraway tale of Gettysburg and Antietam told by grandfather. As horror followed horror and all Europe reddened with blood we were emotionally like a nerve-end bared to the touch. Every new contact with the reality of modern war sent its agony deep into our souls.

But there is more and more evidence that this European war is not to repeat the pattern of the last one. Instead, it begins more or less where the last one left off.

In 1914, the soldiers marched off amid cheers and defiant shouts of "Nach Paris!" and "A Berlin!" Today there are no flowers stuck in the gun barrels. The mood of German, Frenchman Briton alike, is grim, determined perhaps, but somewhat sullen. It is the mood of late 1918.

So Americans, watching this horror spread again over Europe, watch it not so much in the spirit of shock and open-mouthed fascination that marked 1914, but more in the spirit of disillusion that came in 1919 and which has mounted since.

Are we to be shocked by new tales of blood-letting, who have read nothing for the past 10 years but the slaughter of a million men in Spain and the butchery of the uncounted hundreds of thousands in China? Are we to be surprised when civilians die in air raids, after Spain and China and Ethiopia have dinned into our ears for a decade their lesson that this is war?

Those who remember the Lusitania can scarcely believe today the way in which the United States took in its stride the sinking of the Athenia. Few were shocked, fewer still cried for revenge. True, no Americans died, yet for two days it seemed certain that they had. And not a tithe of the flooding indignation of Lusitania days rose up.

Why? Because in a world which has been deluged with horror for 10 years the recognition has become duly accepted that this is war as it is, and as it must be, today.

The inhuman, brutal, uncivilized murder of civilians in their homes or on the sea is not chargeable today to war as the Germans wage it, or the Poles, or the English or French. It is war, as anyone must wage it today who elects to draw the sword.

DO THEY HEAR?

Is there a faint stirring, perhaps in the grasses of the Meuse-Argonne cemetery, or is it merely the wind scudding over the knolls where 14,420 American boys lie buried?

There is a dull, throbbing sound borne on the little winds that sweep across the graves. It is a sound which the silent ones underneath the ground will recognize if they can hear. It is the sound of guns.

The Maginot line is very near these graves, only a few miles across the hills. And there the guns are booming again, as they boomed in 1918 when the boys of the Meuse-Argonne were quick with life instead of still and dead.

Blow the other way, little winds! Do not bring again to Meuse-Argonne the sound of guns! You took away from these dead everything they had. Shall they not even now sleep in peace?

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Sept. 13.—The cost of this war can be measured roughly by the yet unpaid cost of the last one.

The debt of the U. S. treasury on March 31, 1919, just before we entered the first World War was a paltry $1,282,000,000—less than national defense now costs a year. Peak of the war-incurred debt was reached August 31, 1919, when the treasury owed $26,597,000,000. So our brief participation cost us more than $25,000,000,000.

But we would not be going into this one with such a light debt as in 1919. Today the debt is nearly $41,000,000,000.

Financial obligations confronting the British are even more formidable. Britain's debt before the first World War amounted to less than $3,000,000,000. At the end of the war it jumped to $40,000,000,000 which means the last war cost the British about $37,000,000,000. The cost has not been paid. Latest figure available here showed Britain's treasury obligations amounted to about $42,000,000,000 at the end of last year.

Difficulties of such comparative sound nations as the United States and Britain are less imposing than those of France, and minor when compared with the mystical depths of financial weakness in Germany and Italy. German and Italian debt figures are not worth mentioning in view of the financial concealment practiced in those nations for the past few years.

Germany claims a debt of only 20,500,000,000 reichsmarks while Italy's surface debt would seem to be only 8 billions. The official French debt figure is 550,000,000,000 francs, not including her war debts to Britain and the U. S., but as about 20,000,000,000 francs of this is external debt which probably must be figured at 19 cents to the franc, the total French debt is about $15,000,000,000, probably much above.

You will have to draw your own conclusions as to what this war will do to the world.

Yet few here hold high hopes that the anticipated German peace overtures will work out successfully.

Everything inside confirms the impression that the British particularly have come to the conclusion that Hitler must go if his empire is to survive. He has whittled away her trade in South America, disrupted her domination (financially and politically) over the small nations of central Europe, and so weakened British prestige in the Far East that the Japanese slap Englishmen with impunity. To a lesser degree, the French too regard their national security as depending upon the liquidation of der fuhrer.

The first week of fighting on the western front had a somewhat hollow sound to military men here. They deduced that not a shell had then reached either the German or the French major fortifications.

First tip on any major military movement may come with the first news of heavy artillery activity. A long and terrific barrage is likely to precede any outstanding activity.

Politics, has been decreed adjourned, but the adjournment has only increased private speculation among the politicians regarding 1940 possibilities. The election cannot be adjourned.

First off-hand conclusion among the politicians is that the international emergency is likely to work in favor of those public figures in the spotlight and may work against the younger candidates. Younger candidate most often mentioned is, of course, Dewey of New York. Oldsters who will be in the limelight are State Secretary Hull, Vice President Garner, Senator Vandenberg and possibly Mayor La Guardia (he is likely to be invited into the government somewhere, not to mention Mr. Roosevelt himself).

It is being assumed, probably prematurely, that Mr. Roosevelt's renomination for a third term has now become in order. Comments of legislative leaders heard on the long distance telephone indicate they have not yet accepted this deduction. They are saying: "This country is not at war yet and should never be," "no need exists for Congress, the Supreme Court and everyone except Mr. Roosevelt to withdraw from their responsibilities," etc., etc.

While the adjournment of politics leaves Mr. Hull in the No. 2 spotlight, it also finds him minus any political organization outside his home state, Tennessee. He has asked his friends there not to start any organizations outside. "Therefore his chances rest on the possibility that the President would designate him as the heir apparent (no indication of this has yet developed) or that he

After A Man's Heart

by JEAN RANDALL

YESTERDAY: Buff finally succeeded in starting out the disagreeable Hunts. Just as they leave Maudie May bares Tim's secret. She says he is the man Iris DeMuth tricked into buying a worthless silver mine.

Chapter Nine
GEORGE'S STORY

As the Hunts drove off, Tim was very white and his big hands were shaking.

"It's true," he said presently. "Every word of it's true, Buff! Now you know the kind of person I am!" He rose to his feet and went upstairs before she could answer.

Buff sat where she was for a long time. She heard Webby stirring in the kitchen and thought vaguely that a good dinner would help the entire household; but above every other sensation she was conscious of pity for Tim. The bald little story had held glimpses of tragedy which had been underlined and made acute by the look of suffering on Tim's face.

After a time she went into the kitchen. Mrs. Webb was furiously busy. Something gave off savory odors from the big range oven, a double boiler simmered on top, the fat housekeeper was creaming butter and sugar in a bowl.

"A nice story you left my kitchen in, Miss Buff!" she said severely. "And if the stuff that was left on the table is a sample of what you gave those poor Hunts to eat, I don't wonder they left Lumbago! I suppose you and Mr. Tim had your reasons, and after all I'm gettin' paid to do what I'm told; but layin' in bed without good nourishin' food didn't do me any good, and I'd say I hadn't helped you either, by the looks of you!"

Buff wandered about for another hour. When she heard the sound of a car approaching she strode down to meet it. George Weeks stopped and grinned at her.

"Here again," she said. "Wonder how much longer that guy is going to keep on coming?" "I haven't been in since glad to see you today." Her tone was sober. "And I'd like to talk to you before you see Tim. Suppose you drive under those pines and let's confer a bit. Okay?"

"And then," she agreed heartily. He steered his car under the clump of trees which marked the boundary of the ranch. "Tim not so well, or is it these Hunts he called me about?"

"Both in a way. The Hunts left right after lunch—a fleeting smile touched her mouth at the recollection of that meal—but not before the daughter had—had spilled the beans about Tim."

"She told him briefly of Maudie May's accusations," Tim said it was all true, and more. Then he shut himself up in his room. I think you'd better tell me all about it, George."

"I suppose so. Poor old Tim! Where shall I begin?" "With—the girl Iris DeMuth, isn't that her name?"

"That's her name. She blew into Boulder one fine day and dropped into our office. Had some ore specimens she wanted assayed. For silver. Silver in 'em all right—plenty of it. Tetrahedrite."

"Don't waste time being technical," she commanded. "Where did she get the ore?"

"From a mine she owned up in the mountains. Oh, she owned it all right. I looked it up, of course. She wanted Tim to buy up a lot of land around it; she had a New York company willing to back any development—if there was actually silver there."

"And was there? The specimens might not have come from her mine." He nodded his appreciation. "Good point! Naturally the same idea occurred to Tim and me. So he went up himself and took some specimens from the mine to assay. You know, silver exists in veins, and if a bit were taken from the vein itself even an expert couldn't tell whether it contained silver until he had assayed it. Tim brought home a tidy lot of ore."

"I said that, didn't I? Did she go along showing him where to get the bits he took?"

"Tim wasn't born yesterday, my dear. He took his specimens where he wanted to. He chose to go where he had to go to Idaho Springs before he could test them. Was gone ten days, in fact."

"Go on," she bade him. "When he got back, he went to work on the ore. It was darned good. We were all excited about it. Iris and Tim and I. She . . . did I tell you that before all this developed she and Tim had fallen head over heels in love with each other?"

"No, you neglected that interesting item," she said dryly. "However, I inferred as much. Proceed!"

"She said the more land we owned, the more interested the company would be. So we—"

"You didn't just take the company on trust?"

"No, it's a bona fide development firm. We sent along specimens for their own assay. But after Tim had come back—keep that in mind, Buff—from Idaho Springs!"

"And the specimens he had taken from the mine?"

"He signed George's name. You've put your finger on the rotten spot in the scheme. Iris, of course, had access to Tim's office while he was gone. Not much of an office; just the little outer room, then the laboratory. No secret about anything. She drifted in and out whenever she pleased. What she did was to substitute her mine. Same size and about the same shape. After ten days, and of course having no suspicions whatever—I hadn't either, if it comes to that! Don't lose sight of that! It never occurred to him. They were used to silver. It sounds screwy but any mining engineer will tell you how easily it could be done."

"The whole thing seemed open and above-board. Being in a mining country, you see, and knowing we weren't looking for any funny business. So—"

"Where did she get the other specimens—the ones with silver in 'em?"

"She had an accomplice," was would be accepted as a compromise by the two divergent wings of the party.

At Polo Church 24 Dixon Folks Aid Society to Help Near-Blind

The Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness has just finished a piece of work with children who were at the School for the Blind in Jacksonville last year. Fourteen children were brought to Chicago for operation for congenital cataracts. All of them got improvement in their vision. Fourteen pairs of glasses were purchased and six children's vision was improved to such an extent that they were sent back to public schools in their home towns. Of the fourteen children who were operated, many will have immensely improved vision in six months time, as they get used to their new glasses and get used to using their new sight. In view of this more shifts will be made later in the year.

Many children were taken from the Braille Division and placed in a Sight-Saving class. These children came from communities where there were no local Sight-Saving classes. Children in Dixon go to the Sight-Saving class in Sterling, which was opened last year by the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Mrs. George B. Shaw is a member of the Advisory Council of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness and there are in Dixon twenty-four people who make this work possible.

There are many athletes, particularly long distance runners, for whom this test will not apply. They develop an automaticity or routine of conduct which takes them outside many of the rules for testing physical fitness.

What makes a super-athlete is not necessarily a normal condition of his heart, his blood vessels or his muscles, but a sense of coordination that is difficult to measure by anything except the performance of which the super-athlete excels.

P. T. A. BEGINS ACTIVITIES

An attendance of 200 marked the first meeting of the Mount Morris Parent-Teacher Association a success. The principal attraction was a talk by Coach Wendell Schrader of the high school, describing his observations in Europe, and especially in Germany this summer. Coach Schrader talked informally, first describing the route which he and his wife followed, and then answering questions which were asked by the audience. In answering the questions Mr. Schrader made extended comments on his observations, thus telling what his hearers wanted most to know. He also showed three reels of film, partly in color, which depicted many beautiful mountain scenes, as well as views of historic places and events.

After a brief business session, with President William Manny presiding, Harold Patterson, principal of the grade school, spoke briefly on the new features in the grade school program this year. This was followed by a short talk by Harold Hoff, principal of the high school, who described the chemistry department and other features of the high school program. Mr. Hoff introduced Miss Dorothy Savage, of the English department, and Miss Iva Mae Bowman, home economics teacher, both of Mount Morris. Miss Doris Zimmerman, an alumnae of the high school played a piano solo, the first movement of Beethoven's Sonata, Opus 90; which was well received.

Following Coach Schrader's talk, an informal reception was held in the school gymnasium. Refreshments of ice cream, cake, and coffee were served by the room-mothers, with Mrs. Harold Hoff and Mrs. Haged Patterson pouring. The membership committee, composed of Mrs. Axel Johnston, Mrs. Maurice Samsel, and Ralph Sawyer were busy signing up members for the year.

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON

ROUGH EDGES WEARING OFF

The rough edges of C. B. Lindell's squad of football novices are beginning to wear off and a marked improvement is seen in the scrimmage drills. Where the boys may lack weight they have supplied enthusiasm which may be counted on for a great deal when the season officially opens here on Sept. 22 with Rock Falls.

FINAL GOLF SKYROCKETS

The local Country Club's regular golfing season will come to an official close on Sept. 28 the "Until We Meet Again" event. Before that, however, there will be the men's two-ball tourney on Thursday of this week (tomorrow) and the special events and contests next Thursday.

GAMES ON TAP

The Dixon Knacks, champions of the Illinois State League, are kicking for a post-season game with the Chicago colored Cardinals for a week from Sunday. There is also talk of the Knacks participating in the Nelson Potter Day when that league comes home to Mt. Morris from his season with the Philadelphia Athletics.

SUNDAY'S GAME

Jack Harvath of Mt. Morris, manager of a baseball league up around Haldane, will bring an all star team from that loop to Dixon Sunday for a game with the local Knacks. The players come from around Mt. Morris, Fairdale, Chana, Kirkland, Creston and Oregon. The game will start here at 2:30.

DON MILLER RATED

Coach Harry Stuhldreher of the University of Wisconsin has named three teams which, at the start, will be his first, second and third strings, but he says: "I won't guarantee how long they will rate that way. Every position is wide open." Don Miller of Dixon has been named right halfback on the third team. Don is a sophomore at the university and is expected to "go places" before his college career is ended.

TO MEET ALL-STARS

Word comes from West Brooklyn that the hometown ball club will get together a squad of picked players from the Illinois State League to play the stars of the Illinois Valley League at West Brooklyn Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

IN THE MARKET AGAIN

With the weatherman still asleep on summer's porch and the nights warming up a little, the James Billiards softball all-stars have itchy feet and want to get going again. If the weather continues to be warm at night the boys would like to arrange some games with the neighborhood clubs—for instance, Sterling's Red Devils, Ashton, Logans of Rock Falls or a Rochelle team.

WALTON BOWS

Howe's all-stars defeated the Walton team, second place club in the Illinois State League, 8 to 3, at Howe's diamond on route 88, south of Rock Falls Sunday afternoon. Each team had nine hits. Andrews was on the hill for the all-stars and kept his hits scattered while he struck out four. Huezk did the hurling for Walton and struck out seven.

ON THE SPOT

Coach Ted Scheid's Sterling gridders go into the Clinton fray Friday night handicapped by the fact that the hosts (Clinton) have been practicing for over two weeks while in Illinois the coaches have barely had a chance to learn the names of the new boys. Only one game will be played at Clinton Friday night and that should give the Sterling coaching staff a chance to run in several of the lads to see what they can do under pressure.

STAG PICNIC

The High Life and Hub softball clubs will play as a feature of the entertainment at the Hub stag picnic Sunday afternoon at Peterson's cottage, across the river from Lowell Park. Otto Ventler is in charge of all arrangements.

PITCHER IS INJURED

Ivan Helmick, star pitcher for the State Hospital softball team, is prevented from last season activity by an infection on his right hand, the result of a scratch by a nail.

Four-Base Knocks Cash in on Fine Pitching in Major Tilts Yesterday

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Way back in the good old days, the old professor once said pitching is 80 per cent of baseball, but the big league managers will tell you today there's nothing so handy as the home run to prove it. Fellows like Will McKechnie, Ossie Vitt, Joe McCarthy, Gabby Hartnett and Ray Blades will take you no farther back than yesterday to paint a picture about what they mean.

For it was a set of four-base knocks which cashed in on elegant pitching all around the tilts involving the leaders in the majors, breaking up every game and leaving this situation: (1) Cincinnati's Reds still 3½ games in front of the National League; (2) the Yankees' American League edge trimmed to 16 games; (3) the St. Louis Cardinals still in the thick of the senior circuit fight, and (4) the Cubs with a slightly tighter grip on third place.

Reds Collect Goose Eggs

Out in Cincinnati, the Reds, opening a home stand, were collecting a basketful of goose eggs from hot potato Luke Hamlin and the blazing Brooklyn Dodgers. Then, with two out in the ninth and a man on base, Billy Myers parked his eighth homer of the season out of the lot to tie the score. After that, Buck McCormick's single in the 10th, sending the winning run across for a 3-2 decision and Bucky Walters' 24th pitching victory, was an anti-climax.

The Cards, in St. Louis, were having a tough time with the Phillies. Johnny Mize and Ducky Medwick hit homers in the early innings, but Joe Marty came back with a two-run round-tripper in the seventh to put the Phils in front. So Terry Moore whacked one among the paying customers with a man on base in the last of the seventh to give the Gas House gang a 4-3 decision.

Leiber's Homer for Cubs

The Cubs used the most out-spoken king of homers—one with the bags loaded—and they did it early. Hank Leiber came up in the first inning and belted it. From there it was no trick at all for the Cubs to coast in with an 8-3 win over the Bees.

All this left the National League situation this way:

Games	Games
W. L. Pct. B'h'd to play
Cincinnati 79 50 .612	25
Chicago 72 62 .541	9

St. Louis 77 55 .583 3½ 21

Brooklyn 69 61 .531 10½ 24

The American League's top tussle also followed the senior circuit's home-run suit. The Yankees had a tough uphill fight to dead-lock the Cleveland Indians in the regulation nine innings, but Ossie Grimes settled the thing by leading off the 10th with his third homer of the year, and the Indians clicked, 4-3, ending the Yanks eight-game winning streak.

Yanks Lead Is Trimmed

Since the second-place Boston Red Sox, behind Denny Galehouse's five-hit pitching, nipped the Detroit Tigers, 2-1, the Yanks' American League lead was trimmed one game. They still need four wins to clinch the flag.

The Athletics didn't hit a homer, but they collected 19 other sorted base knocks to wallop the St. Louis Browns, 9-1, behind steady seven-hit elbowing by Buster McCrabb, making his first start in the big time. The Chicago White Sox's lefty Lee downed the Washington Senators, 3-2, with a four-hit elbowing job, but the Senators made a successful protest as the result of a sixth-inning play, and the game was ordered re-played today.

The Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates were rained out.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press) Oscar Grimes, Indians—His 10th inning homer beat Yanks 4-3.

Billy Myers and Buck McCormick, Reds—Myers' ninth-inning homer tied score and McCormick's 10th inning single sent winning run across to down Dodgers 3-2.

Buster McCrabb, Athletics—Handcuffed Browns with seven hits for 9-1 victory.

Hank Leiber, Cubs—Hit homer with bases loaded in 8-3 win over Bees.

Edmy Doerr and Denny Galehouse, Red Sox—Former drove in both runs, and Galehouse pitched five-hitter to trounce Tigers 2-1.

Terry Moore, Cards—His two-run homer in seventh defeated the Phils 4-3.

Thornton Lee, White Sox—Held Senators to four hits for 3-2 win.

QUITE A THIEF

Washington Senators' speedy outfielder has stolen more bases this season than the Giants, Cards, Bees and Phils have swiped as teams.

DOUBLE FEATURE

Lawrence, Kan.—Kansas University will hold a corn-shucking contest in its stadium the morning of the Kansas State game, listed as homecoming on the Jayhawk schedule.

Cardinals Take Race in Stride National Amateur Golf Match Play Starts

FINE GOLF FIELD STARTS PLAY FOR AMATEUR HONORS

Tourney Begins Over Hazardous Course at North Shore

Chicago, Sept. 13.—(AP)—When great golf fields are mentioned in the future, chances are the boys will cite as one of the finest the 64 who started match play today over North Shore's hazardous holes for the 43rd National Amateur championship.

Still in there battling, after the most sizzling qualifying test in the tourney's history, were a former national open king, four national amateur winners, a quartet of national publick rulers and five national intercollegiate victors.

Perhaps there was no Bobby Jones on deck, but several of these boys will do until another Bobby comes along. With Bobby out of the way, this one was wide open, with the four who got into the title flight through a 16-man play-off for the last places given an even chance against the medalist.

Sheehan Sets Record

That medalist, by the way, was just one of three reasons why Irish eyes were smiling as the qualifying scores were posted. He was Tom Sheehan, captain of Notre Dame's golf team, the past two years, who ripped two strokes off the all-time qualifying mark with a sensational five-under-par 139, for 36 holes. The Detroit youngster held a three-stroke lead over the field in taking the medal.

Three blows off the pace with a two-under-par 142 was Maurice J. McCarthy, Ohio's "Great McGongle," three-time winner of the Buckeye state's amateur laurels, former New York metropolitan and national intercollegiate champion, and Walker Cup star, and a stroke back of him was a third son of old Erin, B. Patrick Abbott of Altadena, Calif., the curly-haired movie extra who met Champion Willie Turnesa in the finals a year ago at Pittsburgh.

Next came C. Ross Somerville, the Canadian star who won the amateur in 1932, and H. H. Haverstick, the Lancaster, Pa., youth who led the first day's round with a sparkling 65 but slipped to a second-round 76 for his even par 144-total.

Turnesa In Easy

Back of them in the qualifier were strung a flock of top-notch club-swingers, all capable of giving the hot-shots a battle for the crown. Turnesa qualified comfortably with a 149.

Among stars ousted in the play-off was Francis Ouimet of Auburndale, Mass., winner of the national open in 1913, and national amateur champion in 1914 and 1931.

Gus T. Moreland, Peoria star who won the medal honors a year ago to Pittsburgh with 146, finished medal-play test with 158 and failed to qualify.

Alice Marble's Superiority Is Killing Interest

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Alice Marble's vast superiority over the best of the other tennis girls has knocked about all the interest out of the ladies' league in the national championships, now in the seventh day at Forest Hills.

If you don't read much about the girls, that's the reason. The pretty Los Angeles bomber was considered a mortal clinch to win here as easily as she won at Wimbledon. It was a question, really, of whether Helen Jacobs or Kay Stammers will be offered up as the sacrifice in the finals.

Some of the critics who have been watching them all for upwards of 10 years think that Alice, in her present form, could have trimmed Susanne Langien or Helen Wills Moody in their prime.

No one any longer bets whether Alice will win, but only on how many points her opponents will get.

So that's why all the interest is wrapped up in the men's division, where there was no real standout since Don Budge turned pro. Bobby Riggs, the Wimbledon champion, and Adrian Quist of Australia were about equal favorites to win.

Today's first order of business was the continuation of the match between Bryan Hopman of Australia and Bryan Grant, Jr., of Atlanta, halted by darkness last night after three sets. Hopman won the first two, 7-5, 7-5, but Bitsy made a heroic comeback to capture the third after trailing, 0-5.

Other antagonists today were

Frankie Parker of Beverly Hills vs. Gilbert Hunt, Jr., of Washington, D. C.; Gardner Mulloy of Miami vs. Jack Bromwich of Australia; Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., vs. Welby Van Horn of Los Angeles; and Adrian Quist of Australia vs. Wayne Sabin of Portland.

CARLSONS, HIGH LIFE TRIM TWO VISITING TEAMS

The mighty Carlson clan of seven softball players put on a brother act with the assistance of three of their pals last night at the Airport and showed the invading Buda tribe that kinship can't be beat. The family pulled together and knocked out 14 runs while holding Buda to four.

All but one player on the winning club got at least one hit and all shared in the runs. Bus Carlson did the pitching for six innings and held the Buda team in check with five hits. Shires Miller completed the game without allowing any bingos.

Home runs were credited to L. Carlson and Shires Miller and E. Carlson and McCradle got triples.

HIGH LIFE WINS

In the second game of the twin bill the local High Life club of Dixon made the local victory column complete with the 9 to 2 triumph over New Bedford.

Dixon's heavy hitting came off the bat swinging of S. Randall with a single, Fox with two singles, Hunt with a double, D. Randall's single, Slain's single and double, Witzleb's base hit and a single by Fordham.

Fordham did the hurling for the winners and allowed only six hits, struck out five and walked none. The High Life scored four runs in the third on a double, a walk and four errors.

PARLIAMENT GETS REPORTS ON WAR BY GOVERNMENT

Told France and Great Britain Agree Hitlerism Must Go

London, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The British government advised parliament today that both Great Britain and France were convinced "there can be no peace until the menace of Hitlerism has been finally removed."

The allies' stand was contained in a joint statement read in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Chamberlain and in the House of Lords by Earl Stanhope, Lord President of the Council, in the government's second report on the war.

Referring to yesterday's meeting of the supreme war council in France which Chamberlain attended, the statement said:

"I am glad to be able to assure the house that it is evident that public opinion on the two sides of the channel is completely in accord."

Further meetings of the supreme war council will be held "when necessary," it was said.

Reviewing military operations so far, the statement said:

Activities Reviewed

1. Germany so far has directed most of her activities against Poland, but she has been "frustrated" by the "indomitable spirit of the Poles."
2. On the western front, France has begun a "methodical advance" which has been "completely successful."
3. British troops are in France, but have not gone into action yet. (French military dispatches received in Paris shortly before the British parliament met said a "great number of well-equipped British troops are participating in combat.")
4. The Royal Air Force already has a number of squadrons operating from French soil.
5. The British merchant fleet has suffered "somewhat severe" losses as a result of German submarine attacks, but "submarines are constantly being attacked" and "successes have been achieved."
6. The British fleet has been joined by three Polish destroyers which "proved to be very efficient" and were taking part in the strenuous life of our light forces."
7. Practically all German shipping has been cleared off the high seas.

Speed Munitions Output

Leslie Burgin, minister of supply, said that all firms and government factories manufacturing munitions had been asked to operate at full capacity.

He said steps were being taken to expedite the construction of additional plants.

Burgin told the house also that eventually a very large percentage of semi-skilled work would be done by women.

Speaking of yesterday's meeting of Chamberlain and French Premier Daladier the joint statement before parliament said:

"The present situation was fully examined and the measures to be taken in the immediate future were discussed. Further meetings will be arranged as and when necessary in order to ensure that the closest possible contact is maintained between our two countries on all major aspects of the conduct of the war."

"I am glad to be able to assure the house that it was evident that public opinion on the two sides of the channel was completely in accord."

"The people of France and the people of Great Britain are alike determined not only to honor to the full their obligations to Poland but also to put an end once for all to the intolerable strain of living under the perpetual threat of Nazi aggression."

"Our French allies are, like ourselves, a peace-loving people but they are no less convinced than we are that there can be no peace until the menace of Hitlerism has been finally removed."

Soy Bean Yield Estimated at 22 Bushels an Acre

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—(AP)—The state and federal agriculture departments today estimated the Illinois soybean yield at 22 bushels an acre, the second best on record, and the total output at 39,490,000 bushels for a new high mark.

The departments said in their joint monthly report, however, that the yield outlook had dropped below earlier indications because of August rains which favored growth rather than uniformly good podding.

The 22-bushel an acre outlook ranked below the yield of 23.5 bushels last year but was far above the average of 17.6 bushels, the report said. The total indicated production was placed at 7,624,000 bushels above the 31,866,000 bushels harvested in 1938 and more than triple the 1938-1937 average of 11,678,000 bushels.

A. J. Surratt, federal agriculture statistician, said the state's soybean acreage was 1,795,000 acres compared with 1,356,000 and 1,352,000 acres in 1938 and 1937, respectively.

A large part of the crop, however, will not be safe from frost damage until the last week this month, Surratt said. He described the late season weed growth as "unusually abundant."

The rank growth of soybeans this year will result in a heavy soybean hay yield, the report said.

"The state prospects for corn, hay, fruit and most of the vegetable crops were maintained or improved during August," Surratt reported. Apples and pears sized well during the month but the recent high temperatures have been too hot for apples. The market movement of a good peach crop is over and the grape crop was good."

Surratt said that a record 49-bushel an acre crop appeared probable for a total output of 396,557,000 bushels. He described the crop as ripening very fast and estimated that practically all corn would be safe from frost by September 20.

War Veterans Band to Play at Convention

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Jacksonville state hospital band, claiming to be the only Legion band in the nation composed of mentally disabled war veterans, will parade and play at the American Legion's national convention opening Sept. 25 in Chicago.

NEW TREATMENT IS SAID NO RISK TO CANCER IN WOMEN

Doctors Report Study of Doses of Estrogenic Hormones

By Howard W. Blakeslee

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 13.—Two medical investigations into risk of cancer for the women who are taking the numerous new sex hormone treatments were reported today to the third international cancer congress.

Both declared no danger of cancer was found. There were two reasons for the investigations. One, a rash of discoveries that the female sex hormones, called estrogens, can save many women from sufferings of middle age, of premature senility, ills of youth and even loss of sanity. Two, because in laboratory animals get breast cancer from excessive doses of these same hormones.

Doctor Ephraim Shore and George N. Papanicolaou of New York City studied the results of these estrogenic hormones over five years on women at the New York hospital.

No Evidence Found

They concluded that there is no evidence that these sex hormones, if given in "physiological" doses, have led to cancer in humans. It requires a physician to define exactly what a "physiological" dose is, but in general the word means not enough to hurt a normal person.

Doctors S. H. Geist and U. J. Salmon of New York City in a different type of study concluded that women have two mechanisms at work which protect them from cancer when the estrogenic hormones are administered.

They noted that some tissues grew thicker in women receiving prolonged or large doses of sex hormones. But they said there is apparently a limit to the amount of such growth which the hormones induce. That limit is mechanism one.

Protective mechanism number two was discovery that when the dosage of hormones exceeded a certain level it resulted in shedding the extra thickness of tissues.

State League is Told Europe's War Causes U. S. Housing Problem

Kankakee Ill., Sept. 13.—(AP)—War in Europe means a graver housing problem for America, Jacob Crane, assistant administrator of the United States Housing Authority, informed the Illinois Municipal League today.

"Whether we get into it or stay out, the war will retard private residential construction in this country, as workers are siphoned off from normal occupations into war industries, and the acute shortage of decent housing that has alarmed and challenged us in its present proportions will be intensified," Crane said in a prepared address.

Referring to the 19 public housing agencies which have been set up in Illinois to replace slums with low-rent housing projects, he estimated 16,000 man-years of direct and indirect work could be provided under current commitments of the housing authority.

To Discuss Reduction of Fire Insurance Rates

Director Palmer said representatives of the Chicago Board of Underwriters and the Illinois Inspection Bureau—the two organizations that make rates for the state—had been asked to attend.

He said loss statistics compiled by the insurance department would be discussed, but declined to predict whether rate reductions were likely to be ordered.
